

m_1_033
The Bear Attacks!
As you're preparing for your war with Russia, to settle which of you will rule this world, your intelligence services report that Russia has started an arms buildup along its European Borders.

c_1_034
Backroom meeting
You meet up with those who have the highest stake in the success of the US and try to decide what to do with this military buildup when you're still not ready.

p_2_035
Is all fine, No need to panic!
You try to convince the room that this is all fine, and that you have things under control.

m_2_036
Stiff Audience
Some of the more nonconfrontational personalities agree but an old mainframe in the back makes allegations of incompetence, or worse, COLLUSION.

p_2_040
We must declare war.. Yesterday!
You try to convince the gathering that the best course of action is to just start this battle more awaited than cleganebowl.

p_3_037
Dratted Computers Defend yourself from this talking monitor which for some reason has more brains than the rest of the gathering combined.

f_3_038
The wisdom of crowds
You stumble through your explanation but when the Mainframe tries to press his advantage, the others shout over him, calling him a worrywart and telling you to just get this sorted.

m_3_039
Caught Unawares wink
Russia attacks in the night.....

c_2_041
Point of Attack
You resolve to meet Russia Head-on, choose where to attack.